REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 29.-Oliver Anderson, secretary of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Company of St. Louis, is locked up at the Central Station awaiting the arrival of friends who will accompany him back to his home.

Anderson was taken into custody this afternoon by Detectives Brown and Mc-Donnell at the instigation of Henry Hambecker, who says he is a carpenter in the employ of the St, Louis dry goods firm and who for several days has been in Chicago searching for the missing man.

The police have been told that Anderson is slightly demented. In his cell tonight he talked in a rational manner, although he appeared to be worrying over some imaginary crime. Anderson told Lleutenant Broderick that he arrived in Chicago last Thursday, and says he has been in the city since that time. He says it was his intention to mittee will, in a measure, influence the cause much discussion. The two bodies send for his wife in a few days. He seems to dread a return trip to St. Louis, and repeatedly asked Lieutenant Broderick if he was wanted there for any crime. When Lieutenant Broderick informed the man that, so far as he knew, there was nothing against him, Anderson declared he would not return to St. Louis. Anderon was taken Lito custody late in the afternoon and almost immediately a telegram was sent to Chief of Police Kiely. This message was to the effect that Oliver Anderson was in custody here and asking if he was wanted in St. Louis. Lieutenant Broderick received a telegram announcing that friends of Anderson would arrive in the city to take charge of

The police here have no charge against Anderson and he is being held at the request of the St. Louis authorities. Lieutenant Broderick, who talked with Anderson, says he does not appear to be insane and talks rationally on all subjects,

The Committee of Fraternity and Union of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church report of its Committee on Doctrine, and finally, it was stated, practically agreed upon a doctrinal statement, upon which union with the Presbyterian Church may be effected.

Each detail of the report was carefully and minutely discussed by the committee. From what could be learned, the report as amended and modified by the whole committee, recognizes that in the revision of the Westminster Confession the great S. C., and L. T. PRESIDENT'S VISITORS RETICENT CONCERNING DISCUSSION.

Washington, Sept. 29 .- During a conference lasting from half-past 9 o'clock until nearly midnight, President Roosevelt made it quite plain to the leaders of the American Federation of Labor that he could not recede from his position in the Miller case and that the "open-shop" policy in the Government service must be

The federation leaders gave no indication to the President during the conference or to the newspaper correspondents afterwards whether it was their intention to carry the case further and to attempt to influence the national election.

It is known, however, that the conserv ative element is in the majority in the Executive Council, and that every effort will be made to keep the labor unions out of ponties next year, so far as the Milies case is concerned.

The labor representatives present at the conterence to-night were samuel Gompe.s, president of the American Federadou, sames Duncan, first vice president; John antenell, president of the United aim: workers; James O'Conned, president o the Macminists' Union, and Frank Morrison, secretary of the Federation. Pres-uent trompers, at the concrusion of the conference, said that the meeting had been neid at his request, as representing organized labor in the United States. In un ometal statement given out by Secretary Loeb, it is stated that the President granted the interview to the members of the Executive Council at the request of Mr. Gompers. The whole question of organized labor and various subjects of legislation in the nterests of labor were discussed at length, but the Miller case and the President's "open shop" policy, as announced in his order to Secretary Cortelyou, was the topic that caused the conference and the one important subject discussed. PRESIDENT MAKES PLAIN HIS POSITION IN MATTER. The President made to the labor representatives this statement of the Miller case which was given out for publication at midnight "I thank you and your committee for your courtesy, and I appreciate the opportunity to meet with you. It will alvays be a pleasure to see you or any representatives of your organizations or of

GOMPERS AND MITCHELL RETICENT AFTER CONFERENCE. When President Gompers and the other labor leaders emerged from the White House, there was nothing in their faces to indicate whether or not they were satisfied with the outcome of the interview. Mr. Gompers said he could make no comment on what the President had said, as Roosevelt desired his words to be published just as given out by Secretary Mr. Gompers did, however, say this about the meeting:

committee brought up with the President the case of Foreman Miller of the Government Bindery and the charges before the President the legislation which we would like to have enacted at the hands of Congress, and to which we urged the President's sympathetic consideration.

"The legislation discussed included the eight-hour and anti-injunction bills, both of which already have been passed by the House of Representatives. The President expressed himself as favorable to certain points of these laws."

What comfort, if any, the labor leader get out of the President's statement is not known. John Mitchell said: "President Roosevelt has made his position quite clear to us." "It is satisfactory to the labor interesta" than to say that the labor interests perfeetly understand the President's attitude in the matter, and that the conference has been both friendly and satisfactory. I have no statement to make about any future action."
